PROGRAM

IMMC 8th YEAR ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION
“ISLAM AT A CROSSROADS IN AMERICA”

July 10 -12, 2009

The Muslim American community is one of the fastest growing religious-cultural communities in America. This community is very diverse. It represents indigenous Americans—to include African Americans, European Americans, Native Americans, and Latino Americans--and immigrant Americans who migrated from every continent and country of the world. This ethnic melting pot shares a common belief and way of life, Islam. However, they represent very diverse Ethnic and cultural communities that are assimilating within the American culture. As the Muslim community continues to progress in America, they face many challenges that can also provide opportunities to positively influence America.

This conference and national dialogue comes on the heels of President Barack Obama's European tour and strategic visit to Turkey, where he extended a friendly hand of partnership to the Muslim world. Thus, the conference begins the dialogue of addressing this "partnership with America" among the Muslim American leadership. The conference theme, “Islam at a Crossroads in America”, begins addressing the challenges that Muslims in America face and how they can utilize their way of life and faith as a vehicle to positively influence and contribute to the American story. The conference’s emphasis is on how Muslims can become more fully engaged within America, among its many cultural and faith communities. The goal of the conference is to explore how and where our challenges as Muslims intersect concerns of the American society as a whole. The conference themes include broadly that of Islamic leadership, its diversity, and finding unity and a leadership model in America equipped to forge this partnership with America; civil rights and civic responsibility; the Latino Renaissance; the Timbuktu Roundtable: A conversation about the historical role of Islamic African leadership in Africa’s development and its prospects for African Americans today; Youth’s Islam: Hip-Hop, Spirituality and the Arts; Islamic Banking and the Economic Crisis; Healthy Family and Marriage Relationships; and Interfaith Dialogue: the Global Call for Peace.

“A Centralized Leadership for Muslims in America”

The landscape of Muslims in America includes a picture of the broader Muslim World. With respect to different socio-economic and political agenda's, this workshop seeks to create a platform for building a bridge towards a central body of Muslim leadership in the United States that will serve as a foundation for a unified front. During this session Imam Siraj Wahhaj will be honored for his sustainable leadership, dedication and service to the Muslim community in America.

Speakers:

Imam Siraj Wahhaj, Muslim Alliance in North America (MANA)
Imam Faheem Shu'aibe, Masjid Warith Deen Mohammed
ISNA Representative, Islamic Society of North America (ISNA) (invited)
IMAN Representative, Inner-City Muslim Action Network (IMAN)
Zahid Bukhari, Islamic Circle of North America (ICNA)
Akbar Muhammad, African Literacy Foundation

10:45 am - 12:15 pm Panel Discussion Moderator: Judge Ali Shamsid Deen
“Civil rights and Muslims”

Since September 11, 2001, Muslim Americans civil rights have been dangerously slipping away in big and small ways. Many violations of Muslims civil rights have been recorded across the country including detention without charge, denying the right to an attorney, curbing freedom of speech, Muslim profiling, and many others. Hate crimes have steadily increased against Muslim Americans and donations to Muslim charities have been substantially reduced since September 11. This workshop will address understanding of civil rights in America, and how we can work with other organizations to eliminate discrimination against Muslims, end profiling, strengthen non-profits and other charitable Muslim organizations, and ensure that Muslims in America are treated fairly and within the confines of the law.

Speakers:

Nihad Awad, Council on American-Islamic Relations (CAIR)
Ibrahim Abdil-Mu'id Ramey, Muslim American Society (MAS)
Nsombi A. Lambright, ACLU
Sabir Abdul Haqq, Businessman and Activist
Patricia Ice, MS Immigrants Rights Attorney

10:45am - 12:15pm Panel Discussion Moderator: Yahsmin Mayaan Binti Bobo
“Remixing the Art of Spiritual Change”

This panel offers new, youthful approaches to humanizing Islam to the general public through disciplines of the urban aesthetic by way of filmmaking, hip hop and digital media. Poetry and calligraphy were mediums used in the past to enlighten people about Islam but now these art forms have evolved to include a modern aesthetic: spoken word, performing arts, mural painting and digital media/arts. Remixing the Art of Spiritual Change will inspire a progressive discussion about new aesthetics, trends and norms among multicultural and multiracial Muslim youth, how (and if) this art can be propelled as Da'wah, and finally, to present a view of Islam aside from the dogmatic context it is often viewed within.

Speakers:

Hasan Salaam, Muslim Political Lyricist-Activist-Youth Mentor
Kauthar Umar, Photographer, Writer & Co-producer of “New Muslim Cool”

12:15 - 1:15 p.m. Lunch

1:00 - 2:00pm Salaat-al- Jumah

2:15 - 3:45pm Panel Discussion Moderator: Dr. Rubina Inamdar
“Healthy Family and Marriage Relationships”

As immigrant and indigenous communities mix under the broad umbrella of culture and Islam, what kind of priorities should our communities have? How do we reconcile Islamic traditions with cultural habits and American lifestyle? What can we learn from each group? How do we merge them to promote thriving healthy communities? What role does diet and nutrition play in healthy family and marriage relationships?

Speakers:

Reshma Inamdar, MBA, CPA/Founder SEMAH (Domestic Violence)
Amanda Dahl, RD, Assistant professor of Nutrition
Aisha Waheed, Co-founder of United Muslim Association
Imam Faheem Shu’aibe, Quranic-based Family Relationships
Maryam Rashid Washington, IMMC and Educator of Inner-City Students

2:15 - 3:45 pm Panel Discussion Moderator: Khadija Rivera
“Latino Renaissance”

The Renaissance (from French Renaissance, meaning "rebirth"; was a cultural movement that spanned roughly the 14th to the 17th century, beginning in Italy in the Late Middle Ages and later spreading to the rest of Europe. The term is also used more loosely to refer to the historic era, but since the changes of the Renaissance were not uniform across Europe, this is a general use of the term. To the Muslim world, “Latino Renaissance” is a catch phrase for the ‘rebirth’ of Islam among Spanish-speaking people. For 700 years the glory of Muslim Spain was heard around the world. The fear that Islam would be a global power shook Europe into the most horrendous period in history the “Inquisition”. In response, genocide and torture worked hand in hand to destroy the art, literary works, medical contributions and architecture of a unique and vibrant society. Today from Cuba to Spain, Latino Muslims are taking charge of history by spreading Islam from East coast to West. They are involved with art, Hip Hop, and the political forefront, in addition to spreading the teachings of Islam and attending learning centers throughout the world. This workshop will touch upon the contributions of Hajj Malik Shabazz aka Malcolm X to present day.

Speakers:

Imam Yusef Maisonett
Imam Ali Siddiqui, Latino Muslim Association

4:00 - 5:30 pm

Panel Discussion

Moderator: Amad Shakur

“Financial crisis and Islamic banking and investment”

In the mist of the worst global financial crisis since the great depression, many ask what went wrong with the American financial institutions and banking system and the stock and housing markets. This workshop will answer some of these questions and offer an alternative financing system “Islamic banking” which was relatively unaffected by this financial crisis. Also, we will examine how well did investments in mutual funds following Islamic Jurisprudence fared against the major US stock market indexes?

Speakers:

Mike Abdelaaty, President of American Finance House LARIBA

Dr. Parvez Ahmed, Assoc. Professor of Finance, Univ. of North Florida

Carol A. Moore, Director, U. S. Dept. of Commerce, U.S. Commercial Service

Timbuktu Roundtable: “A Conversation about the historical role of Islamic African leadership”

This is an invitation to the diverse African American leadership to begin a new dialogue about the State of the African American community and to explore a successful community development model from our past. The Timbuktu Exhibition presents authentic examples of developed communities in West African that were great centers of learning and wealthy empires. Islam and Islamic ideas were at the core of the development of these West African communities, as revealed in the ancient manuscripts of Timbuktu. Here, Islam is presented not as a religion, but a cultural worldview with ideas that sparked an Age of Enlightenment in Africa that expanded into Europe and the West. The conversation is to explore the historical role of Islam and Islamic African leadership in Africa’s development and its prospect for development of African American communities today. This dialogue is designed to create intellectual discussion among the leadership based on scholarship and research. It begins efforts toward development of a think tank associated with IMMC’S and Jackson State University’s Islamic Thought Institute concept. It is based on the principle of the leadership’s accountability to build a genuine partnership within the diverse African American leadership around a common vision for a more unified, peaceful, safe, healthy, productive, morally strong and socio-economically competitive community.

Speakers:

Akbar Muhammad, ALF
 Ronald Mason, President of Jackson State University
