How Has The Career Services Center Helped You?

The Career Services Center sends information for internship and career opportunities right to my email. They also give information regarding grad schools and professional schools for students that are ready to endure their long term goals. It's important to have organizations such as Tigers2Work that encourage students and educate students on the opportunities that are often right on campus.

Advice For Other Students:

I encourage students to speak with the head of their departments, professors, and the Career Services Center. It is important to talk with people and take advantage of the recourses on campus.

Career Goals:

I thrive to become one of the few African American women to receive a Ph.D. in Physics. I will become a Physics professor at a university, and I will continue to do research.
