H.T. Sampson Library 2nd Floor of the Auditorium
November 2, 2017 from 9:00 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. (Click Here to Register)
Managers have an obligation to not only set an ethical example for the workplace, but be aware of specific ethics laws and regulations applicable to staff. Managers must also be prepared to answer questions from employees concerning possible ethics and conflict of interest situations and provide resources to staff facing ethical dilemmas. This class not only reviews ethical principles specific to supervisors, but also provides practical instruction on Mississippi’s ethics and conflict of interest laws. Mississippi Ethics Commission decisions are reviewed along with Jackson State University’s own policies concerning ethics and conflicts of interest for staff. Participants will be challenged to recognize the role of perception in the workplace and to objectively assess the impressions they create by their actions. Organizational Ethics for Managers is a half-day session. (Who Should Attend? ALL Supervisors, Managers, and Directors)

Seating Capacity

When the seating capacity for a particular location is reached, the date will no longer be available for selection in the drop down menu. If there are no available training dates available, then all scheduled sessions have reached maximum capacity.

Cancelations

Due to the finite resources allocated for professional development as well as the seating capacity for each session scheduled, your commitment to attend training is viewed as a vital component to the process. Your attendance and/or participation in our activities ensures the maximum return on investment (ROI) of the funds, time, and staffing required to deliver meaningful competency based development to our JSU community. By registering for one of our training sessions, you've effectively reserved a seat that is no longer available to the general campus population. To this end, last minute cancelations and/or "no shows" tend to increase the per employee cost as well as prevents other interested employees from reserving that seat.
