

SCHOOL OF FINE AND PERFORMING ARTS

Department

◆ Music

The School of Fine and Performing Arts is currently comprised of the Department of Art and the Department of Music. The projected Department of Theatre Arts and Dance, currently under development, will complete the School's arts program upon implementation. The Department of Music is fully accredited by the National Association of School of Music (NASM).

The Department of Music features numerous performances by its nineteen ensemble groups, which include the marching band, the Sonic Boom of the South. The Department is located in the F. D. Hall of Music Center, which incorporates a recital hall, various rehearsal facilities, a digital recording studio, and an electronic music technology lab. The accomplished faculty of the Department includes instrumentalists, vocalists, composers, and conductors who regularly perform and record music.

The Department of Music in the School of Fine and Performing Arts offers a graduate program designed to complement the mission of the College of Liberal Arts and the University. The Master of Music Education is available with several emphases designed to prepare individuals to teach in the music classroom at various levels.

The Department of Music in the College of Liberal Arts, in the School Fine and Performing Arts in cooperation with the School of Education, offers: the Master of Music Education Degree with emphases in: (a) Elementary School Music Education; (b) Secondary School Music Education (choral, instrumental, general); (c) Junior College Music Education (choral, instrumental or general); (d) Comprehensive Music Education (combined, integrative areas of study); (e) Church Music; (f) Conducting (Band, Orchestral and Choral); and (g) Performance (Instrumental, Piano and Voice).

Program Objectives

Based upon the stated guidelines and standards of the National Association of Schools of Music (NASM), NCATE, the Music Educators National Conference (MENC), and "AA" Certification requirements of the State of Mississippi as stated in Bulletin 130, the Department of Music at Jackson State University offers graduate programs in Music Education which will:

1. Raise the instructional competencies of music teachers in schools and junior colleges.
2. Meet the increasing demands, changing circumstances and growing needs of today's society for quality music education in schools at the early childhood, elementary, secondary, and junior/community college levels as well as those of the community.
3. Promote the establishment of learning environments conducive to improved instructional programs in music throughout the State of Mississippi.
4. Provide for the professional development of effective educators who:
 - a. Will become finely attuned to today's standards, today's society, and today's expansive musical scene.
 - b. Will become keenly aware of the historical, theoretical and technical bases for the effective development of musicality on all levels.

- c. Will understand emerging philosophies, methodologies, curricula, and psychology that form the framework of the setting in which music is taught, learned and consumed.
- d. Will become competent in handling music in relationship to other arts and society.
- e. Will become adept in establishing meaningful learning environments for musical instruction.
- f. Will become expertly trained in providing leadership in the implementation of comprehensive musical programs in both the school and the community.

Accreditation

The Master of Music Education degree program is accredited by the National Association of Schools of Music (NASM), and the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE).

Admission Requirements

Full admission for the Master of Music Education degree program requires: an undergraduate degree in music (Bachelor of Music Education, B.M.E.; Bachelor of Music, B.M.; Bachelor of Science, B.S.; or Bachelor of Arts, B.A.); a 3.00 Grade Point Average on a 4.00 scale; satisfactory scores on the Graduate Record Examination, (GRE), and three letters of recommendation. Additionally, the student must complete a personal interview/audition which must be scheduled and planned in consultation with the program coordinator or designated advisor. All incoming graduate students are required to take entrance examinations in music history and music theory.

SCHOOL OF SOCIAL AND BEHAVIORAL SCIENCES

Departments

- ◆ Criminal Justice and Sociology
- ◆ History and Philosophy
- ◆ Political Science
- ◆ Psychology

The School of Social and Behavioral Sciences consists of leaders in graduate education at Jackson State University. Academic units comprising the School of Social and Behavioral Sciences are the Department of Criminal Justice and Sociology, the Department of History and Philosophy, the Department of Political Science, and the Department of Psychology.

In addition to the four academic units shown above, students and faculty participate in several interdisciplinary research and citizenship programs - - two centers, the Margaret Walker Alexander National Research Center for the Study of the Twentieth Century African American, spawned from the Department of History; the Alcohol and Drug Studies Center; whose genesis was the Department of Sociology; a planned program of research for the Department of Psychology, the Community Health Program (CHP) and a Clinical Psychology Services Program; and the Fannie Lou Hammer National Institute on Citizenship and Democracy, which grew out of more than a quarter of a century of activity by the faculty of the Department of Political Science.

The aforementioned four units, their programs of teaching, research and service, attract a substantively diverse and international faculty and student body. All graduate programs in the social and behavioral sciences maintain an optimal student enrollment and provide excellent mentoring by core faculty with combined research and practitioner experiences in traditional academic specializations and public service roles. Graduate students are expected to meet with their mentors many times during the course of the academic year and are encouraged to begin research projects with their mentor the summer preceding their admission. Graduate coursework, preliminary examinations, qualifying examinations, internships, thesis and/or major papers, and dissertation preparation, are the major components of the graduate programs in the School of Social and Behavioral Sciences. The College of Liberal Arts's only doctoral program - Clinical Psychology - has an excellent teaching faculty with planned programs of clinical research. The social and behavioral sciences have engaged teaching faculty with quality research publications. The School of Social and Behavioral Sciences generates large sums of external funds to support graduate student fellowships, foster research opportunities that advance student's careers, generate new knowledge/discoveries in collaboration with graduate students.
