Summary of Professional Characteristics

Preparation for teaching, research, and leadership/administrative roles in public school and higher education includes four years of administrative experience in public schools, eleven years of full-time secondary science teaching experience, 25 years teaching, research, and service leadership in higher education; and more than twenty years of community service/consultant experience. The latter includes leadership in planning, implementing, and community health programs, school curricula, teacher staff development, Adopt-a-School programs, and parent/community education programs designed to enhance education and health promotion programs in public schools and promote community health. Research, teaching/mentoring, and service leadership revolve around improving the health and well-being of minorities, poor and underserved populations. The broader focus is on eliminating racial/ethnic disparities in education and health, specifically among women and their families. Research and teaching strategies incorporate community-based participatory approaches and qualitative methodologies to give voice to marginalized communities.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Academic/Administrative Appointments

July 2017 – Present

Department Chair & Professor,
Department of Behavioral &
Environmental Health
School of Public Health
Jackson State University
Jackson, MS

Responsible for the daily operations of the Department of Behavioral and Environmental Health. The Chair has the authority and responsibility for the delivery of academic programs in accordance with departmental, college, school, and university strategic plans: hiring and evaluation of departmental personnel, including faculty and staff; and budgeting and resource management. Coordinate departmental activities with those of other units within the College and University. Collaborate with other administration members to support the development and implementation of College/School initiatives.

Duties include (but are not limited to the following)

- Lead department and leadership meetings
- Serve on various committees at multiple levels
- Evaluate faculty, conduct Annual Performance Reviews, and guide professional development plans
- Recommend awards, grants, and compensation increases to the Dean based on evaluations
- Supervise student personnel and staff members
- Arrange course schedules to balance program needs and faculty research opportunities

Student related

- Coordinate recruitment and advisement of students
- Evaluate transfer credit and handle student concerns in collaboration with program coordinators, public health department chairs, and the dean's office

- Oversee requests for student travel and departmental recruitment/retention activities
- Organize orientation/registration advisement schedules
- Approve or deny course overrides and transient credit requests

September 2021 – August 2024

Interim CEPH Reporting
Coordinator
College of Health Sciences
Jackson State University
Jackson, MS

Collaborated with the Dean and Interim Dean of the College of Health Sciences to respond to Interim Reporting requirements for the initial 2018 CEPH accreditation. Engaged the public health leadership team to gather data addressing CEPH deficiencies related to low graduation rates, faculty resources, and other SPH/CHS programmatic concerns based on the 2018 accreditation findings. Met with the CEPH consultant to identify weaknesses in the 2023 Preliminary Self-Study and provided recommendations to the Dean for gathering missing data elements. Offered administrative advisement and support to the Dean for responding to the October 2023 site visit questions. Worked with public health department chairs and program coordinators to develop a plan of action for addressing data gaps in the preliminary self-study, final self-study, and responses to the CEPH findings by January 2024, ahead of the March 2024 Council decision.

June 2018 – August 2024

DrPH Community Research
Practicum Director/Faculty of Record School of Public Health
Jackson State University
Jackson, MS

Developed and implemented revisions for the DrPH Community Research Practicum with the CEPH Consultant in 2018. Piloted and taught the revised PHS 750 Community Research Practicum, evaluated it, and worked with the Marketing and Field Placement Director to find suitable sites. Served as Faculty of Record for 5 years and trained a junior faculty member to take over in fall 2024. Currently assist in student orientation, identify practicum sites, and collaborate with Preceptors on project descriptions for each fall semester cohort.
