Teachers Prepared

On this page, enter the number of program completers by the subject area in which they were prepared to teach, and by their academic majors. Note that an individual can be counted in more than one academic major and subject area. For example, if an individual is prepared to teach Elementary Education and Mathematics, that individual should be counted in both subject areas. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major or subject area, you may leave the cell blank. Please use the "Other" category sparingly, if there is no similar subject area or academic major listed. In these cases, you should use the text box to describe the subject area(s) and/or the academic major(s) counted in the "Other" category.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the program completers in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the program completers in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the program completers for the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the teachers prepared data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

What are CIP codes? The Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP) provides a taxonomic scheme that supports the accurate tracking and reporting of fields of study and program completions activity. CIP was originally developed by the U.S. Department of Education's National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) in 1980, with revisions occurring in 1985, 1990, and 2000 (<https://nces.ed.gov/ipeds/cipcode/Default.aspx?y=55>).

Teachers Prepared by Academic Major

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by academic major for academic year 2024-25. For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Academic major" refers to the actual major(s) declared by the program completer. An individual can be counted in more than one academic major. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major, please leave that cell blank. (§205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\))

Please note that the list of majors includes several "Teacher Education" majors, as well as several noneducation majors. Please use care in entering your majors to ensure education-specific majors and non-education majors are counted correctly. For example, if an individual majored in Chemistry, that individual should be counted in the "Chemistry" academic major category rather than the "Teacher Education–Chemistry" category.

The pass rates table is populated from files provided by the testing company or state. The table provides information on the performance of the students in your teacher preparation program on each teacher credential assessment used by your state. In cases where a student has taken a given assessment more than once, the highest score on that test is used. In the case of a teacher preparation program with fewer than 10 scores reported on any single initial teacher credential assessment during an academic year, the program shall collect and publish information with respect to an average pass rate and scaled score on each state credential assessment taken over a three-year period.  \(§205\(a\)\(1\)\(B\)\)

Please note that this page does not have an edit feature as the pass rates have already been through several rounds of verification. If you identify an error, please contact RTI's Title II Support Center and your testing company representative.

Provide a description of the evidence that your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction, and to use technology effectively to collect, manage, and analyze data in order to improve teaching and learning for the purpose of increasing student academic achievement. Include a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to use the principles of universal design for learning, as applicable. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the four elements listed above are not currently in place.

Students have access to computer labs equipped with projectors, Mondo and smart boards. Students also have access to the unit's curriculum center which is design to mimic the instructional resources available in most K-12 settings. Each student is required to enroll in the EDCI 556. This course prepares teachers to Integrate technology that enhances learning environments and extends performance. Candidates complete tasks that identify six types of visuals/technical tools and compare their advantages and limitations for use as an instructional tool to meet the diverse need of students. Courses were ordered in virtual settings/distance learning. All candidates in graduate programs are encouraged to take full advantage of technology available in their clinical experience sites which can be evaluated through observations by the university supervisor. Throughout the program, candidates use technology to communicate with supervisors (e.g., electronic mail and blackboard). They use technology to meet the needs of diverse learners and instructional enhancements (e.g., PowerPoint, web sites, video streaming, two-way audio/video and multimedia software). They record and analyze student assessment data using computer programs (e.g., Access, Excel), and through their students' assessments data. They are able to growth of their students and make data driven decisions for adjusting instruction. The use of these technologies help candidates adapt general education content to support the learning of students with disabilities.

Contextual Information

Please use this space to provide any additional information that describes your teacher preparation program(s). You may also attach information to this report card (see below). The U.S. Department of Education is especially interested in any evaluation plans or interim or final reports that may be available.

The Master of Arts in Teaching (MAT) Program is designed for individuals who hold a non-teacher education bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university. Candidates are provided with multiple opportunities to learn, apply, and reflect on INTASC, CAEP, PGS, TGR, and ISTE standards, as well as content-specific knowledge, as they matriculate through the program. All program syllabi are aligned with the appropriate standards, and reviews of the syllabi reveal a strategic approach to introducing, reinforcing, demonstrating, and assessing candidate knowledge, skills, and dispositions. The MAT Program requires a minimum 2.75 GPA in content-area coursework related to the area of certification or a passing subject-area assessment at or above the nationally recommended score, provided that the admitted cohort meets or exceeds a 3.0 GPA in pre-major coursework. In accordance with Mississippi state requirements, the MAT Program at Jackson State University requires all candidates to complete and pass pre-teaching coursework prior to enrollment in EDCI 500: Introduction to Teaching Internship. These courses include EDCI 556: Classroom Management, EDFL 581: Principles of Measurement, and SPED 500: Survey of Exceptional Children and Youth. Through these courses, candidates develop foundational knowledge and skills in assessment, classroom management, instructional planning, technology integration, and professionalism. Instruction related to teaching diverse populations, learner development, and learner differences is emphasized and reinforced, particularly in SPED 500. Once candidates obtain employment, they may enroll in EDCI 500: Introduction to Teaching Internship. Following successful completion of the one-year internship, candidates are eligible to receive the five-year standard teaching license. During the internship, candidates practice and refine their instructional knowledge and skills under the supervision of a university supervisor and a mentor teacher. Planning, classroom management, assessment, professionalism, learner development, and learner differences are reinforced and evaluated using the Teacher Intern Assessment Instrument (TIAI) and Professional Dispositions instruments.
