Biography/History:

E C Foster, a native of Canton, Mississippi, was employed as professor of History at Jackson State University. He was chairman of the Faculty Senate and served on a number of university committees. He was Director of Black Studies at Jackson State University from 1971 through 1973; he was also adjunct professor for the San Francisco Theological Seminary (Spring 1972). His publications include articles and book reviews in Freedomways, Close-Up, and Crisis in addition to authoring The New Social Studies for the Slow Learner (1969) and The Americans: A History, which was accompanied by a student work book, teacher's manual, testing component, and audio-visual-kit (1970, 1975).

Dr. Foster is the retired interim Vice President for Academic Affairs, Tougaloo College and Associate Graduate Dean, Jackson State University, where he was responsible for the leadership and day-to-day operation of the Graduate School. He is married to Velvelyn Foster, Vice-President for Academic Affairs at Jackson State University.

He also did research on the “Race Relation Views and Attitudes of Living Afro-Mississippians Born in the 19th Century.” His scholarly interests include American urban and social history, as well as Black Studies generally.

Dr. Foster’s experiences included two years of military service in the United States Army (1961-1963), history teacher in Natchez, Mississippi (1964-1965); community organizer in Pittsburgh, PA (1965-1966); and public school teacher in Pittsburgh, PA (1967-68, January-June, 1969). His educational background includes a BS from Jackson State University (1964); MA and Ph.D. degrees from Carnegie-Mellon University (1967, 1970 respectively); and post-doctoral study in West Africa under sponsorship of the African-American Institute and the United States Office of Education (Summer, 1970).
